RESPONSE TO RESPONDENT'S REQUEST FOR JUDICIAL NOTICE

Plaintiffs and appellants Rosemary Verdugo and Michael

Verdugo hereby submit their Response to respondent Target

Corporation's pending Request for Judicial Notice. This Response raises authorities similar to those presented by Target in response to the Verdugo's pending judicial notice motion.

Target's first two requests seek notice of legislative materials. Such requests are proper only as to published materials, and the judicial notice should be denied to the extent the materials present unpublished materials. (Quelimane Co. v. Stewart Title Guaranty Co. (1998) 19 Cal.4th 26, 46 n.9.)

The Verdugos hereby object to Target's request for judicial notice of a variety of statistics, scientific papers, and reports. (Target Requests nos. 3-19.) Target has improperly asserted the truth of these cherry-picked materials in extensive portions of their Answer Brief on the Merits, even though they were never presented in the trial court. (See ABM 44-50.) The 'truth' of the assertions in these documents is not admissible, as the materials are not "embraced by both parties as accurate," and the asserted "facts" they contain are "reasonably subject to dispute." (Evid. Code § 452(h); People v. Jennings (2010) 50 Cal.4th 616, 685 n.34; Mangini v. R. J Reynolds Tobacco Co. (1994) 7 Cal.4th 1057, 1063.)

Date: October 2, 2013 Respectfully Submitted,
