Executive Summary

The Family and Juvenile Law Advisory Committee recommends revising one Judicial Council form containing figures based on the federal poverty guidelines to reflect the updates to those guidelines recently published by the federal government.

Recommendation

The Family and Juvenile Law Advisory Committee recommends that the Judicial Council revise Financial Declaration—Juvenile Dependency (form JV-132) to reflect the January 2015 increases to the federal poverty guidelines.

The revised form is attached at pages 4–6.

Previous Council Action

The Financial Declaration—Juvenile Dependency (form JV-132) was adopted on October 26, 2012, for a January 1, 2013, effective date. The form has been revised twice to reflect annual updates to the poverty guidelines, most recently on February 20, 2014.

Rationale for Recommendation

The Judicial Council has established a program under Welfare and Institutions Code section 903.47 to collect reimbursement of the cost of court-appointed counsel in dependency proceedings from persons liable for those costs under section 903.1, subject to a determination of their ability to pay. Under the statewide standard adopted by the council, a court may determine that an otherwise liable person is unable to pay reimbursement if, among other reasons, that person's monthly household income is 125 percent or less of the current federal poverty guidelines established by the federal Department of Health & Human Services (DHHS). DHHS updates the poverty guidelines annually to reflect the previous year's change in prices as measured by the Consumer Price Index.

Financial Declaration—Juvenile Dependency (form JV-132) contains figures based on the poverty guidelines. Specifically, the table in item 3 provides monthly income levels on which a court may base a determination that an individual is unable to pay reimbursement for the cost of court-appointed counsel.

Revisions required

The monthly income figures in item 3 on the juvenile dependency financial declaration form currently reflect 125 percent of the 2014 monthly poverty guidelines established by DHHS. DHHS released revised federal poverty guidelines on January 22, 2015.¹ As a result, this item must be revised to reflect the 2015 federal poverty guideline revisions.

To determine the new monthly income figures for the form, the federal poverty guidelines must be multiplied by 125 percent and divided by 12.² The new figures are reflected in item 3 on the revised form (at page 4 of this report).

Comments, Alternatives Considered, and Policy Implications

Staff to the Family and Juvenile Law Advisory Committee monitors revisions to the poverty guidelines and ensures that the financial declaration form is revised as necessary and submitted to the council. Revised form JV-132 should take effect immediately to ensure that litigants are provided with accurate monthly income guidelines on which a court may base a decision regarding parties' financial liability. This rapid change to the form is necessary because the revised poverty guidelines took effect immediately on their release. Once adopted by the Judicial Council, revised form JV-132 will be distributed to the courts and forms publishers and posted to the California Courts website.

Implementation Requirements, Costs, and Operational Impacts

If a court provides free copies of this form to parties, it will incur costs to print or duplicate the revised form. However, the revisions are required to make the form consistent with current law.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Background

Section 673(2) of the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act (OBRA) of 1981 (42 U.S.C. 9902(2)) requires the Secretary of the Department of Health and Human Services to update the poverty guidelines at least annually, adjusting them on the basis of the Consumer Price Index for All Urban Consumers (CPI-U). The poverty guidelines are used as an eligibility criterion by the Community Services Block Grant program and a number of other Federal programs. The poverty guidelines issued here are a simplified version of the poverty thresholds that the Census Bureau uses to prepare its estimates of the number of individuals and families in poverty.

As required by law, this update is accomplished by increasing the latest published Census Bureau poverty thresholds by the relevant percentage change in the Consumer Price Index for All Urban Consumers (CPI-U). The guidelines in this 2015 notice reflect the 1.6 percent price increase between calendar years 2013 and 2014. After this inflation adjustment, the guidelines are rounded and adjusted to standardize the differences between family sizes. The same calculation procedure was used this year as in previous years. (Note that these 2015 guidelines are roughly equal to the poverty thresholds for calendar year 2014 which the Census Bureau expects to publish in final form in September 2015.)

The poverty guidelines continue to be derived from the Census Bureau's current official poverty thresholds; they are not derived from the Census Bureau's new Supplemental Poverty Measure (SPM).

The following guideline figures represent annual income.

2015 POVERTY GUIDELINES FOR THE 48 CONTIGUOUS STATES AND THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

5	35,520
6	40,720
7	45,920
8	51,120

For families/households with more than 8 persons, add $5,200 for each additional person.

2015 POVERTY GUIDELINES FOR HAWAII

Persons in family/household	Poverty guideline

2	18,330
3	23,110
4	27,890
5	32,670

7	42,230
8	47,010

For families/households with more than 8 persons, add $4,780 for each additional person.

Separate poverty guideline figures for Alaska and Hawaii reflect Office of Economic Opportunity administrative practice beginning in the 1966–1970 period. (Note that the Census Bureau poverty thresholds—the version of the poverty measure used for statistical purposes—have never had separate figures for Alaska and Hawaii.) The poverty guidelines are not defined for Puerto Rico or other outlying jurisdictions. In cases in which a Federal program using the poverty guidelines serves any of those jurisdictions, the Federal office that administers the program is generally responsible for deciding whether to use the contiguous-states-and-DC guidelines for those jurisdictions or to follow some other procedure.

Due to confusing legislative language dating back to 1972, the poverty guidelines sometimes have been mistakenly referred to as the “OMB” (Office of Management and Budget) poverty guidelines or poverty line. In fact, OMB has never issued the guidelines; the guidelines are issued each year by the Department of Health and Human Services. The poverty guidelines may be formally referenced as “the poverty guidelines updated periodically in the Federal Register by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services under the authority of 42 U.S.C. 9902(2).”

Some federal programs use a percentage multiple of the guidelines

(for example, 125 percent or 185 percent of the guidelines), as noted in relevant authorizing legislation or program regulations. Non-Federal organizations that use the poverty guidelines under their own authority in non-Federally-funded activities also may choose to use a percentage multiple of the guidelines.

The poverty guidelines do not make a distinction between farm and non-farm families, or between aged and non-aged units. (Only the Census Bureau poverty thresholds have separate figures for aged and non-aged one-person and two-person units.)

Note that this notice does not provide definitions of such terms as “income” or “family,” because there is considerable variation in defining these terms among the different programs that use the guidelines. These variations are traceable to the different laws and regulations that govern the various programs. This means that questions such as “Is income counted before or after taxes?”, “Should a particular type of income be counted?”, and “Should a particular person be counted as a member of the family/household?” are actually questions about how a specific program applies the poverty guidelines. All such questions about how a specific program applies the guidelines should be directed to the entity that administers or funds the program, since that entity has the responsibility for defining such terms as “income” or “family,” to the extent that these terms are not already defined for the program in legislation or regulations.

Dated: January 16, 2015.

Sylvia M. Burwell,
Secretary of Health and Human Services.
